A Journey of Self-Discovery and Cultural Immersion

Leslie's quest for self-identity leads her on an extraordinary odyssey to Paris, the "City of Light." Immersed in the bohemian atmosphere of post-war France, she encounters a kaleidoscope of characters who challenge her preconceptions and expand her worldview.

Yet, beneath the surface of her Parisian adventure, Leslie yearns for a deeper connection with her Chinese heritage. Her encounters with her newfound Chinese family and the exploration of her ancestral roots spark a profound re-evaluation of her own cultural identity.

Unbreakable Bonds of Family and Friendship

Throughout her journey, Leslie finds solace and support in the enduring bonds of family and friendship. Her mother, Helen, a strong-willed woman with a heart of gold, provides unwavering love and guidance.

Leslie's friendship with Winnie, an unconventional and spirited artist, offers her a unique perspective on life and challenges her to embrace her own individuality. Together, they navigate the complexities of relationships, love, and loss.
