

Journalist Investigates The Toughest Objections To Christianity Case For Series

Lee Strobel, a former atheist and legal editor of the Chicago Tribune, investigates the toughest objections to Christianity in his Case for Series. In this article, we'll explore some of the objections he addresses and the evidence he presents in response.

The Case for Faith: A Journalist Investigates the Toughest Objections to Christianity (Case for ... Series)

by Lee Strobel

★★★★☆ 4.9 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 4193 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
X-Ray : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 352 pages

Objection: The Bible is full of errors and contradictions.

Strobel responds to this objection by pointing out that the Bible is a collection of 66 books written by over 40 authors over a period of 1,500 years. It is therefore not surprising that there are some minor errors and contradictions in the text. However, these errors and contradictions do not affect the overall message of the Bible, which is that God loves us and wants us to have a relationship with him.

Objection: There is no evidence for the resurrection of Jesus.

Strobel responds to this objection by presenting a number of historical and archaeological evidences that support the resurrection of Jesus. For example, the empty tomb, the eyewitness accounts of Jesus' appearances after his death, and the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, who was a persecutor of Christians before he had a vision of the risen Jesus.

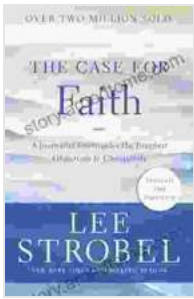

Objection: Christianity is just a crutch for weak people.

Strobel responds to this objection by pointing out that many strong and intelligent people have believed in Christianity throughout history. For example, the early church fathers, such as Justin Martyr, Tertullian, and Origen, were all highly educated men who converted to Christianity after carefully examining the evidence.

Objection: There is too much suffering in the world. If God is good, why does he allow it?

Strobel responds to this objection by arguing that suffering is a result of the fall of humanity into sin. When Adam and Eve disobeyed God, they brought sin and death into the world. As a result, all of us are now subject to suffering and death. However, God has not abandoned us in our suffering. He has sent his Son, Jesus Christ, to die for our sins and to offer us hope of eternal life.

Lee Strobel's Case for Series is a valuable resource for anyone who is interested in exploring the evidence for Christianity. Strobel does not shy away from the tough questions, and he presents a compelling case for the truth of the Christian faith.

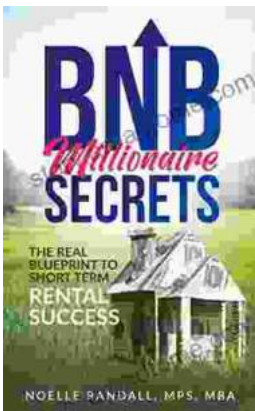

The Case for Faith: A Journalist Investigates the Toughest Objections to Christianity (Case for ... Series)

by Lee Strobel

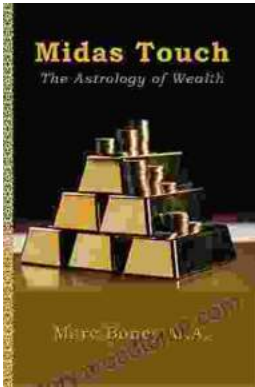

★★★★★ 4.9 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 4193 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
X-Ray : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 352 pages

The Real Blueprint to Short-Term Rental Success

Are you ready to create a thriving short-term rental business? If so, then you need The Real Blueprint to Short-Term Rental Success. This comprehensive...

Midas Touch: The Astrology Of Wealth

Are you ready to tap into the cosmic forces that govern wealth and prosperity? In the captivating new book, "Midas Touch: The Astrology of Wealth," renowned...